Matona a heso a tla manolla litaba tsena ka botebo boesa.

Today, Cabinet reviewed the current Risk Determination and Mitigation Framework and adopted a new framework that considers several factors at the same time including epidemiological status, health care system readiness for increased infections, and forward-looking environmental factors. This framework is more attuned to the community transmission that the country now faces and dispenses with the reproduction rate that was more tailored to travel-based infections.

Based on this framework, the country now moves into colour blue effective midnight tonight. However, the upcoming easter holidays and winter as well as a possible third wave that might take root in Africa instructs caution.

Kea leboha Sechaba sa heso; ha re tsoeleng pele ho ipaballa le ho rapela Molimo hore sireletsa lefung lena le khopo. Ke takatso ea ‘Muso hore lintho li khutlele setloaeling, empa sena se tla etsahala feela ka tlamahano le lona Sechaba sa heso.
